Zion Chapel student addresses Coffee County BOE members regarding school's AP program

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Coffee County Board of Education members heard a plea Thursday evening, April 3, from a Zion Chapel student for the board to reconsider a decision to drop the AP [Advance Placement] program at the high school.

Zion Chapel senior Savannah Parker said when she graduates in May she will be a third generation graduation of Zion Chapel from her family. She said this is something she is very proud of for herself and for her family.

Last Thursday evening during the Coffee County BOE meeting, Parker said she was speaking on behalf of a unified Zion Chapel student body in her capacity as SGA vice president. She said she was there to express concerns from the student body regarding a decision for the discontinuation of the AP Program.

"AP has been pivotal in my academic success," Parker said. "I stand here on behalf of a unified student body that feels we have been ignored on matters that affect us directly."

Parker said there had been several misunderstandings regarding the AP program being dropped, and she said she was representing the current students and future students that might not be able to afford other advanced education programs. She also said she was representing the teachers that had poured their hearts and souls into teaching the AP programs at Zion Chapel.

Parker said the AP Program is one that does not discriminate against the amount of a parent's paycheck in offering opportunities to the students.

The AP Program has been funded at Zion Chapel

VEHICLE CLIMBS LIGHT POLE...A single vehicle accident was reported last Wednesday morning, April 3, around 9:30 a.m. when a 2017 Nissan Altima, driven by James Ferrell Duncan, of Enterprise, reportedly left the roadway. After Ferrell lost control of the vehicle, it struck a light pole and came to a stop after partially climbing that pole. There was enough force from the vehicle's impact that the light pole snapped, and Ferrell's vehicle was damaged heavily. Fortunately, however, he was not reported as injured. Alabama State Troopers investigated this accident. The Elba Fire Department and Haynes Ambulance also responded to the scene of the accident.

TWO VEHICLES COLLIDE JUST OUTSIDE OF ELBA...Two vehicles collided Saturday afternoon, April 6, shortly after 2 p.m. at the intersection of Alabama Highway 87 N and County Road 342. Both vehicles received heavy damage from the collision. The driver of the 2002 Ford Ranger was Beverly Rena Acree of New Brockton. She was transported to a local hospital by Haynes Ambulance for injuries sustained in the accident. The driver of the 2009 Nissan Altima was Roxanne Nickole Catteeuw of Goshen, Ala. She reportedly was not injured. Alabama State Troopers investigated this accident. The Elba Fire Department also responded to the scene of this accident. (photo by Drew Mack)

As Coffee County E911 specifically recognizes three Elba City Council recognizes telecommunications week

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Accolades for Elba dispatchers involved with the March 16th delivery of a baby in front of the police department continued Monday evening, April 8, during the Elba City Council meeting.

Fittingly, this meeting also found the Elba City Council approving a proclamation recognizing the week of April 10-20th as National Public Telecommunicators Week.

Coffee County E911 chairman Dean Blair and E911 coordinator Marvin McIlwain addressed the council during Monday's meeting, and each said they wanted to come and officially recognize the dispatchers involved in that delivery for a job well done.

"We wanted to recognize our 911 dispatchers [Jesse Jones, Denise Boyd and Elizabeth Snell] for the amazing job they did on March 16th," Blair said. "This recognition comes directly from our E911 board, and we want to stress to these folks how much we appreciate what they do."

Blair said the 911 board also wanted to stress that these dispatchers go through a lot on the job and are really unspoken heroes. During an emergency, Blair said it all starts with the 911 dispatch center and the dispatchers in Elba do an amazing job for the city.

"They have lives in their hands...victims, police, EMT's, firefighters," McIlwain said. "We can't recognize them enough."

McIlwain said it was great thinking on the part of Jones the night of the baby's birth to have the driver of the vehicle to come to the police department. He said he does not think he would have had the foresight to do that if it had been him.

Blair added that Jones' ability to not only handle the baby's delivery, but to also know what to do when the baby's umbilical cord was wrapped around her neck was above and beyond the call of duty. He said the job these dispatchers and police officers on duty that night did was outstanding, and they deserve all the recognition they have received.

Blair and McIlwain presented the three dispatchers with a plaque from the Coffee County E911 board officially recognizing them for the outstanding job they did that night.

Elba Police Chief warns of Medicare/Medicaid phone scam targeting local citizens

Elba Police Chief Leslie Hussey warns citizens, especially senior citizens, of a new telephone scam hitting the area.

"We've had a few complaints already in our office regarding this scam," Hussey said. "I want to warn our citizens to be aware of the scam and ask them not to give any private information to anyone over the telephone."

Chief Hussey said this particular scam is a Medicare/Medicaid fraud scam as the caller will tell the potential victim that he/she has been approved to receive a free back or knee brace, and then will ask the potential victim to confirm his/her identity by giving out private information such as a social security number, etc.

"This is definitely a scam," Chief Hussey said. "Please do not give out any personal information over the telephone. Medicare and Medicaid have all that information on file and would never call and ask for it. Hang up if someone asks you to provide private information over the telephone."

Elba City Council votes to recognize April as National Donate Life Month

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba City Council showed its support for Donate Life Alabama as it approved a proclamation Monday night, April 8, supporting April as National Donate Life Month in Elba.

The proclamation noted that 115,000 Americans and 1,800 Alabamians are currently on the national transplant waiting list, and another person is added to the waiting list every 10 minutes. On average, 22 people die every day because the organs they need are not donated in time.

Mayor Mickey Murdock presented the proclamation to Elba native JoJo McBride, on behalf Legacy of Hope. McBride, herself, is a double transplant recipient, and she said she most definitely knows the importance of organ donation because it has given her and so many others a second chance at life.

In reading the proclamation, Murdock said the most effective way to address this health crisis is to educate and encourage citizens to commit to the following actions: register the decision to be an organ, eye and tissue donor in the National Donate Life Registry, RegisterMe.org or LegacyofHope.org; or at a local DMV office, and to learn more about living donation.

In passing the proclamation, the Elba City Council and Mayor Murdock officially opened the observation of April as National Donate Life Month in Elba.

"I just appreciate the City of Elba for approving this proclamation and working to help locate the local community about organ donation," McBride said.

Elba Mayor Mickey Murdock presents the Proclamation recognizing April as National Donate Life Month to JoJo McBride, a double transplant recipient and representative of Legacy of Hope. The proclamation was unanimously approved by the Elba City Council during its Monday, April 8, meeting. Also pictured (back, l to r) is city council members Gappa Wise, Rolanda Jones, city clerk Sally Bane, and city council members Jane Brunson, Tom Maddox, and A.R. Williams.

News Brief:

A Coffee County Grand Jury recently indicted former Elba Police Chief Freddy Hanchey and former Elba Police Lieutenant Robert LaVoie on one count of fraud each.

This stems from an investigation of the Elba Police Department in regards to the alleged forging and submission of paperwork provided to APOST [Alabama Peace Officers' Standards and Training Commission] of required annual firearms qualification reports for the department's police officers.

APOST revoked the certifications as police officers of both Hanchey and LaVoie last July at the conclusion of its investigation.

The investigation/evidence then was submitted for further review by the Grand Jury, and during the recent session the Grand Jury reportedly returned the indictments for the fraud charge for each.

After turning themselves in to authorities for booking for the fraud charge, both Hanchey and LaVoie each posted bond.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

"Bad officials are elected by good citizens who do not vote." – George Jean Nathan Gasoline prices are rising and predicted to exceed the prices of 2015 within the next few months. California is feeling the strongest increase and the rest of the country is following our west coast friends. Of course Alabama is feeling some impact from the phasing in of the state gasoline tax (or the idea of a tax increase) but the largest increase is coming from the oil companies as they claim 'shortages' at the refinery as the main issue.

The now vocal claims that former Vice President Joe Biden has acted inappropriately with female friends, associates, etc., could very well be true. However, we are puzzled that it is only coming to light as the presidential candidates are making their announcements. He has a lifetime in politics so why now? Frankly we suspect there are political motives behind the public statements and that is sad. This man has not been our favorite political officeholder but we can cast our ballot for someone else without attacking his character. Our respect for the women making the claims would have been much, much higher if they had come at the time(s) it is alleged to have happened and not at this point. That might have also caused him to be a bit more sensitive of his actions. Unfortunately, sexual misconduct claims often destroy someone in politics (except Donald Trump) when the claims are made, before the proof is produced and even if there is no proof. Sooner or later that automatically damages the creditability of all such claims and/or also causes many other women to endure more of the same without voicing their feelings.

The Alabama Legislature is "improving" the state ethics laws – the sponsors of the pending bill claim. However, like so many law-making groups across the nation, the bills they pass are designed to help the lawmakers and not the general public. The various sections – "to clear the meaning of the law" just happen to relax the rules FOR the public office holders, including removing the limits on 'gifts' to lawmakers (unless you can prove it is bribery). Surprise, surprise! For the record, both the state ethics commission and the Alabama Attorney General are opposing this bill.

The above bill also diminishes the authority of the ethics commission to enforce the law . . . now that is definitely self-serving by those this commission is charged with policing! There are also claims the pending bill, if it becomes the new law, could be used to keep a certain convicted former wheeling and dealing state lawmaker from going to jail. Could it be that he is still wheeling and dealing?

We have always enjoyed walking (mother called it rambling) in the woods. It seemed to clear our brain and always left us with something unusual to ponder . . . a scampering squirrel or other animal, plant, trickle of a stream, etc., we had seen on our often hours long nature stroll. Lots of that was done on Sunday afternoons. Our enjoyment of walking has lasted on into our adulthood, even if they are more irregular, much shorter and usually on Elba's sidewalks. Well now the experts are confirming that it does exactly what we thought it was doing. They say these nature walks (dubbed 'nature pills') actually lower stress hormone levels by up to 10%.

Is 'Medicaid for All' the right direction to go with proposed health care changes

Democrats are calling the newest single-payer health-care proposals "Medicare for All." America has three major systems of government healthcare: Medicare, Medicaid, and the Veterans' Administration (VA). Is a single-payer system more likely to resemble Medicare or Medicaid?

President Lyndon Johnson's Great Society established Medicare and Medicaid in 1965 to cover elderly Americans and the poor and disabled. The programs cover 55 and 66 million Americans respectively. Medicare cost $706 billion in 2017, while Medicaid, a joint state and Federal program, cost $580 billion, with Washington paying about 60 percent of the tab. The VA provides medical care for about 7 million veterans annually at a cost of $80 billion.

I certainly understand why proponents want to associate a single-payer system with Medicare, which is viewed positively. By contrast, the 2014 scandal forced the resignation of VA Secretary Eric Shinseki. Audits revealed 120,000 vets waiting for care that sometimes never came and systematic falsification of wait time statistics to hide the poor care.

Medicaid's shortcomings are also well-documented. Low reimbursement rates for services leave patients unable to find doctors. Patients end up in emergency rooms after their conditions worsen. Studies suggest that Medicaid patients might have worse health outcomes than the uninsured.

I suspect that scaling up Medicare to serve all Americans will prove impossible. People disagree whether the current trajectory of spending will bankrupt the Federal government, but Medicare – which currently serves only one out of six Americans – is clearly the primary budget threat.

The Congressional Budget Office projects Medicare spending to increase from 3.6 percent of GDP to 7.0 percent by the 2040s. Social Security, currently 4.9 percent of GDP, is expected to rise to (only!) 6.3 percent in the 2040s.

Current Medicare spending understates the program's full cost. Twelve million Americans, known as dual enrollees, currently draw both Medicare and Medicaid. Over one third of Medicaid spending is on dual enrollees. Medicare's success today is partly a product of diverting Medicaid dollars.

Additionally, Medicare may be partly responsible for healthcare inflation; the medical Consumer Price Index has increased 800 percent more than inflation since 1970. Overall healthcare spending has grown from 8 to 18 percent of GDP over this time. New and improved medical care – improved cancer treatments, hip and knee replacements, and HIV drugs – surely explains some of this increase. Yet Uncle Sam's profligacy can drive up costs. Consider that one of the only markets witnessing more cost inflation than medicine has been higher education, where Federal student aid and loans are important.

The Medicare-Medicaid divide illustrates how political considerations inevitably shape the quality of care in a single-payer system. Hundreds of decisions about coverage determine the quality and cost of medical care. Questions like whether experimental treatments, contraception and in-vitro fertilization, physical therapy, and travel to the doctor's office or hospital will be covered.

The government makes these decisions as the single payer. We cannot afford everything for everyone, and will have to say no sometimes. Bureaucrats will make most decisions following rules set by Congress. When people learn whether something is covered, some will complain and our representatives will sometimes respond to the complaints.

These decisions will reflect politics. The complaining groups politicians find more sympathetic or deserving may well get favorable treatment. This is essentially the Medicare-Medicaid divide. Elderly Americans vote and are an influential political constituency; poor Americans vote infrequently and are politically marginal. The VA scandals warn that groups we might expect to be highly deserving can face adverse decisions.

Private insurance and fee-for-service allow individuals more choice over coverage. Employer purchase of most private health insurance and government regulation today limit our choices. Freeing the market would allow Americans to choose the coverage they wish to pay for, not what politicians choose.

A single-payer health insurance system may well provide better care than Medicaid. But our representatives and bureaucrats will have to deny some types of coverage. Medicaid should remind us that politicians are not always generous when dispensing healthcare.

DISPATCH

In the midst of this recognition, Mayor Mickey Murdock also presented the proclamation for National Public Telecommunicators Week. He noted that “professional telecommunicators perform a critical function when an emergency occurs requiring police, fire, or ambulance as well as those related to forestry and conservation operations, highway safety and maintenance activities.”

The mayor said these telecommunicators are critical to the city’s emergency response 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and while they are not as visible as the men and women who arrive on scene of emergencies, they do provide the vital link to public safety services as part of the first responder team.

Upon his recommendation, the council unanimously approved April 10-20th as National Public Telecommunicators Week. Several of Elba’s dispatchers [telecommunicators] attending Monday evening’s meeting, and the council expressed great thanks to them for the invaluable job they do for the city.

Elba Police Department dispatchers were honored in a couple of different ways Monday evening, April 8, during the Elba City Council meeting. Three dispatchers [from left]- Elizabeth Snell, Denise Boyd, and Jesse Jones - received achievement awards from the Coffee County E911 board for the outstanding job they did March 16th in the delivery of a newborn outside the Elba Police Department. All of Elba’s dispatchers were honored when the council approved a proclamation recognizing National Public Telecommunicators Week. Joining Snell, Boyd and Jones for the photo were dispatchers Felicia Bilal, Rebecca Evans, and Ta Byrd.

unanimously to go with Lentz’s recommendation.

Also during the meeting, Sheriff Dave Sutton noted that Senate Bill 228 is important in that it proposes raising the amount of money provided by the state up to $2.25 per day to feed prisoners.

Commissioner Jimmy Jones said he attended a meeting with the governor last week regarding the upcoming Census count. He said this Census count is going to be very important for the State of Alabama, and Governor [Kay] Ivey is encouraging every citizen to return his/her census report.

“The poor growth rate of the state has state officials concerned,” Jones said.

The next Coffee County Commission meeting will be Monday, April 22, at 9 a.m. in the community room of the county complex in New Brockton.

since 2016, according to Parker, through the A+ Program. She said the school had received $60,000 annually for the program, but that funding would be expire after this school year.

Parker said there is a misunderstanding that Zion Chapel could no longer offer the AP Programs because that funding is ending; however, she said that is not true because the things needed to continue teaching the programs already are in place and the school would not need to spend another penny to keep it going.

Parker said another misunderstanding is that dual enrollment is an alternative to AP. She said this is not true because dual enrollment is an offering of college courses while AP programs help prepare students for college.

“AP offers a complete academic skills set,” Parker said. “Thinking AP and dual enrollment are comparable is detrimental.”

Parker further made her case for the AP Program at Zion Chapel by using some figures from the State Board of Education. She said Zion Chapel’s College and Career Readiness numbers were at 76 percent prior to the AP Program being implemented at the school. For the 2017-2018 testing year, she said the school’s College and Career Readiness numbers were at 92 percent.

She said her involvement in the AP Program had improved her skills as a students, and had for many others as well. She said her personal ACT test scores had shown improvement because of her AP classes, and she knows hers is not an isolated case.

“The decision to stop the AP Program shows disregard for the student body at Zion Chapel,” Parker said. “We will accept the board’s decision, but we ask you to really consider the weight of removing the AP Program at Zion Chapel.”

Board chairman Brian McLeod thanked Parker for speaking. He said the board members also had received several emails and other documentation on the matter, and they would have superintendent Kevin Killingsworth address these concerns.

The board did have a 30-minute executive session during last week’s monthly meeting, but not decisions were made as a result of that session.

In other business, there were several personnel matters recommended by the superintendent and approve by board members. These included:

Certificated Personnel

Attorney General Steve Marshall set to speak at Troy University on April 18

Alabama Attorney General Steve Marshall will speak at Troy University on Thursday, April 18, as part of the Gibson Vance Distinguished Lecturer Series.

Endowed thanks to a donation from TROY Board of Trustees member Gibson Vance, the Gibson Vance Distinguished Lecturer Series gives students interested in a career in law a chance to hear from the field's most influential figures. Marshall's lecture takes place at 2 p.m. in Hawkins Hall Room 122.

"The purpose of establishing the lecture series was to bring some of the best lawyers around the country to the Troy Campus, because we have numerous students who have the desire to become attorneys," Vance said. "[Marshall] is the epitome of public service. He left a lucrative law practice because he had the desire to serve others, and that's what he has done both as a district attorney and now as attorney general."

Marshall became the 48th attorney general of Alabama on Feb. 10, 2017, and was elected to a full term on Nov. 6, 2018.

On Jan. 24, 2018, Attorney General Marshall launched his Initiative on Violent Crime—reinvigorating partnerships with federal, state and local law-enforcement agencies to combat violent crime in Alabama. To date, the Initiative has resulted in the arrests of nearly 300 violent offenders.

TROY's College of Arts and Sciences offers both a Minor in Legal Studies and the Accelerated Law Curriculum, a program that allows TROY students to complete their undergraduate degree when they transfer to one of three partner law schools, shortening the time it takes to earn a law degree.

PASTOR'S CORNER

STEVE RENEAU, PASTOR
ELBA UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

I invite you to read Luke 19:28-40 and use this article as a devotional.

This coming Sunday is a special and holy day in the Christian community. On this day we commemorate the day that Jesus entered into Jerusalem as the people waved palm branches representing victory, throwing their coats on the road, and shouting, "Save us, we pray!" in Hebrew or hosanna. This would be the reception you would expect a conquering hero to have, and yet Jesus communicates early in this parade that he is different from this by choosing to ride not on a great horse but lowly donkey. Even so, the crowd is whipped up in excitement that this traveling Rabbi from Galilee may be the one to save them from the foreign, Roman, occupying army.

Yet, this day is also holy, indeed it begins the holiest week in all of Christianity; even the days of this week have special titles: Palm Sunday, Holy Monday-Wednesday, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, Holy Saturday, and of course Easter Sunday. This day begins Jesus' march to the cross, the tomb, and thankfully resurrection. There are many characters we see throughout this week, but one reoccurring character is "the crowd". This crowd shouts for joy on Palm Sunday, shouts for crucifixion on Friday, and witnesses resurrection on Sunday. Sometimes I wonder which day's crowd I could find myself to be a part. I hope I am a witness to resurrection and proclaim it to all I encounter. Yet, have I ever found myself in Friday's crowd trying to silence God in my life. Maybe I'm part of Palm Sunday's crowd who is worshipping God, but for all the wrong reasons and with all the wrong desires and expectations. No matter what crowd I may find myself to be a part of today the Good News is that God is patient and forgiving.

This Palm Sunday will also be important in the life of the Elba community. Many area churches are collecting the items below and blessing them during their worship services. If you would like to contribute, then please bring any of these items to the Palm Sunday worship service at 10:00 a.m. at Elba United Methodist Church or to your church if they are participating in the Luke 19:46 Project. These are items needed for our community Clothes Closet, but rarely given and would be incredibly helpful.

Blankets, Sheet sets (any size), men's undershirts (large, xl, xxl), men's underwear, men's socks, boys & Girls underwear, children's socks, women's underwear (s, m, l, xl), women's socks, men's shoes, boy's & girl's coats

CCBOE honors three charter members of New Brockton High School Alumni Association

During the Coffee County Board of Education meeting held Thursday, April 3, three charter members of the New Brockton High School Alumni Association were honored for their many years of dedicated service to education in New Brockton.

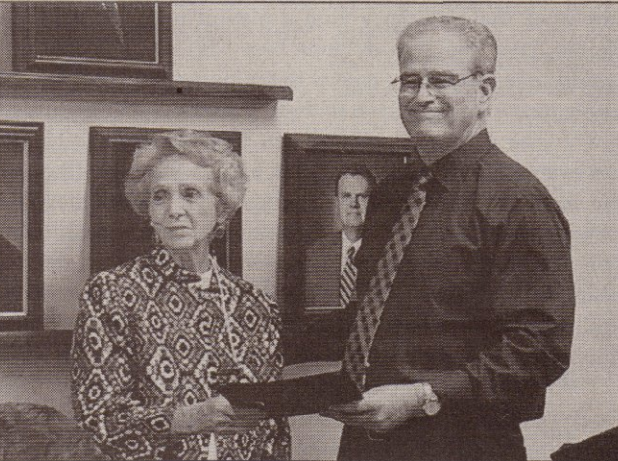

Board member Galen McWaters said it was his pleasure to be able to honor the three members of the New Brockton community.

The New Brockton High School Alumni Association was established Aug. 1989, and Leo Brown, Elsie Hilton, and Stanley Walker were three charter members that worked tirelessly to establish the association. He said these three continue to be an active part of the association today.

McWaters presented each with a Distinguished Medal of Service Award for their dedication to the New Brockton Alumni Association. He said this is the highest accommodation extended by the Coffee County Board of Education, and it was his privilege to be able to present the award to the three with many of his fellow Gamecocks in attendance for the meeting.

Superintendent Kevin Killingsworth added, “The longevity of their service is not seen in today’s world, and I want them to know all they have done and continue to do for education in New Brockton is very much appreciated.”

Views From The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Lawson was at the house almost every day last week due to a busy softball schedule and by the end of the week declared we were running low on food and drinks, and it was time to go to the store. Well, we did head out and filled the frig with quick meals and ‘tummy yummy’ drinks, and that seemed to make my little man confident that he wouldn’t have to starve while visiting.

For what it is worth....

*** The Elba Tigers saw their schedule dampened by last week’s rainy weather, but they did get in a big area win over Kinston and have their eyes set on a trip to Florala this week that will carry with it playoff implications. The Tigers have had one of their best seasons in years and would love to join the crowd at the post-season party, and know just what they have to do to get on the invitation list.

*** The Elba Lady Tigers saw their record slip to 5-6 last week, but continued to play hard every time they hit the field and may just be peeking at the right time. The Elba girls did snap a losing streak with an impressive 8-0 win over Pike County, but dropped three games they had chances to win and need to play with a little more urgency, especially in tournaments games with time limits, if they hope to make a return trip to the regional tourney.

*** There was plenty of action around the area last week in both baseball and softball, with Brantley’s teams garnering much of the attention, as usual. In baseball, the Bulldogs rolled over Florala to clinch the area title and have their eyes set squarely on a state title, while Zion Chapel picked up a big win over Samson that pumped new life into the Rebels, and New Brockton continued its late-season struggles with a doubleheader loss to Arifton. On the softball field, Brantley made it look easy in two wins, but lost to 7A Prattville on the road, as the Lady Bulldogs continued their trek toward what they feel will be a busy post-season. New Brockton claimed two impressive wins and may be ready to peak at just the right time, while Kinston and Zion Chapel were plagued with rainy weather.

*** Auburn’s wild ride toward a national title came to an abrupt end last weekend inside a football stadium in Minnesota with a heartbreaking loss to Virginia. The Tigers had used a late 14-0 run to take command and appeared headed for the finals, only to have a whistle on a three-point shot give Virginia the chance to win, which they did. You have to give the Virginia player credit for hitting all three free throws, but I believe the refs anticipated the foul and the whistle was one that if it had not been blown would have drawn no criticism at all. Hey, it’s a game played by humans and officiated by humans, and mistakes are made. It was just a shame for Auburn it had to end that way.

*** In closing.... the Elba youth baseball and softball leagues have opened their seasons and it looks like a fun season ahead. I urge all Elba folks to pick a night or two and head out to a ballfield and support the youth of our community. They will appreciate the cheers!

Elba Lady Tigers drop three battles in prep softball action

The Elba Lady Tigers dropped three of four games last week to watch their season record slip to 5-6.

The Lady Tigers lone win came over Pike County (see related article), while the losses came to Pleasant Home 3-2, Luverne 6-4 and Highland Home 5-2.

Following are highlights of the three losses:

Pl. Home 3 Elba 2

The Elba Lady Tigers watched as Pleasant Home pushed across two runs late and then saw their own late rally fall short in a 3-2 road loss. Elba grabbed a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning when Sandra Lindsey singled, stole second and third, and scored on a fielder’s choice off the bat of Amaysia Whitfield. However, the Lady Tigers stranded nine runners on base over the next five innings and found themselves trailing 3-1 heading into the seventh. Back-to-back singles by Jaylyn Baker and Praise Edwards sparked a late rally, and when Baker scored on a fielder’s choice off the bat of Jala Gray, Elba was within 3-2. Pinch hitter McKenzie Hooks send a long fly ball to the fence with two outs, but the Pleasant Home outfielder made the catch as the rally fell short and the Lady Tigers fell 3-2.

Sandra Lindsey had 3 hits and scored 1 run to lead Elba at the plate, while Jaylyn Baker added 1 hit and scored 1 run, Amaysia Whitfield and Praise Edwards both added 1 hit, and Jala Gray and Whitfield both collected one rbi.

Mckenlie Jerkins was the hard luck loser inside the circle as she scattered five hits over six innings, allowed only two earned runs and struck out four.

Luverne 6 Elba 4

The Elba Lady Tigers spotted Luverne five early runs and saw a late rally fall short in a 6-4 loss to Luverne, at a tourney in Arifton.

Luverne took advantage of six walks and a hit batter to plate five runs in the opening inning to grab a quick 5-0 lead, and carried the lead into the third inning when Praise Edwards reached on an infield hit, moved to second on a ground out and raced home when Zaida Williams reached on an infield hit. Luverne upped its lead to 6-2 in the bottom of the frame, but the Lady Tigers again battled back when Jaylyn Baker reached on a walk and moved to second on a single by Amaysia Whitfield. Whitfield was forced out at second, but Baker advanced to third on the play and then raced home on a bunt single by Jala Gray. Zaida Williams singled in Gray and later scored on an rbi single by McKenzie Hooks.

However, the rally fell short as the Lady Tigers dropped the 6-4 decision. Zaida Williams had 2 hits, scored 1 run and knocked in 2 runs to lead Elba at the plate, while Jala Gray added 1 hit and scored 1 run, and Amaysia Whitfield, Praise Edwards and McKenzie Hooks all added 1 hit.

H. Home 5 Elba 2

The Elba Lady Tigers saw their tournament run end with a 5-2 loss to Highland Home, Saturday in Arifton.

Elba jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning when Sandra Lindsey reached on a bunt single, stole second and third, and scored on a sacrifice bunt by McKenna Gray, but managed only one hit over the next three innings and trailed 5-1 heading into the bottom of fifth after Highland Home scored four runs in the top of the inning. Jala Gray reached on a two-out single, went to third on a single by Zaida Williams and scored on a double off the fence by Sandra Lindsey. However, the Lady Tigers stranded both runners on base and were eliminated with the 5-2 loss.

Sandra Lindsey had 2 hits, scored 1 run and had 1 rbi to lead Elba at the plate, while Amaysia Whitfield, Praise Edwards, Jala Gray and Zaida Williams all added 1 hit.

Lady Tigers pound Pike 8-0

The Elba Lady Tigers snapped a three-game losing streak and gained revenge for a season opening loss Friday night with a solid 8-0 win over Pike County, at a tourney in Arifton.

The Lady Tigers jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning when McKenzie Hooks reached on an error, stole second and third base, and crossed the plate on a fielder’s choice off the bat of Mckenlie Jerkins.

A leadoff single by Jaylyn Baker and a two-out rbi single by Jala Gray helped Elba up its lead to 2-0 in the second, and the Lady Tigers then made the most of four hits in the bottom of the third to blow the game open and stretch its lead to 8-0.

A leadoff triple by McKenzie Hooks ignited the third inning fireworks, and after Hooks scored on a fielder’s choice off the bat of Mckenlie Jerkins; McKenna Gray singled, Jaylyn Baker drew a walk and Amaysia Whitfield was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Gray scored on a sacrifice fly by Praise Edwards, Baker scored on a bunt single by Jala Gray, and Whitfield and Jala Gray both scored on a two-run single by Zaida Williams as the Lady Tigers opened up an 8-0 lead that they carried to the win.

Zaida Williams had 2 hits and 2 rbi’s to lead the Lady Tigers at the plate, while McKenzie Hook, Jaylyn Baker and Jala Gray both added 1 hit and scored 2 runs, McKenna Gray added 1 hit and scored 1 run, and Mckenlie Jerkins knocked in 2 runs.

Mckenlie Jerkins tossed a 3-hit shutout to get the win inside the circle and struck out six batters.

Fundraising underway to assist in sending three to FCCLA Nationals

Elba High School has three students who scored gold at the state FCCLA Competition last month. Junior Lauren Haley won in the Advocacy competition, junior Elizabeth Woodham won in the Career Investigation competition, and sophomore Collin Harrison won in Focus on Children competition. These students will now proceed to the FCCLA Nationals Competition in Anaheim, California.

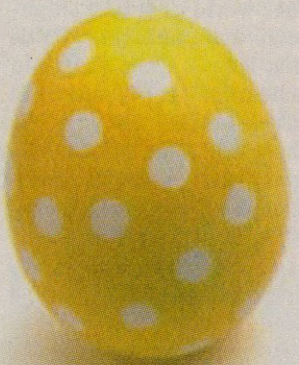

Before going, however, these students need to raise the money for the trip. The cost for each student to travel and compete in Nationals is approximately $1,200, which includes the FCCLA jackets and suits the students will need to wear.

Students are looking for sponsors and are fundraising to earn the money to go.

If interested in sponsoring a student or donating towards the trip, contact Christina Morgan at cmorgan@elbaed.com.

Students are also fundraising by hiding Easter eggs purchased by

The "Flags for Forgotten Soldiers" display (shown here) will remain on the front lawn at National Security in Elba for approximately four weeks.

Dedication Ceremony set for Saturday for "Flags for Forgotten Soldiers" display

The Elba American Legion last week set up the "Flags for Forgotten Soldiers" display from in front of National Security in Elba.

The display will stay there for around four weeks, before the flags are moved to be placed on Veterans' graves for Memorial Day as part of the Second Annual "Flags-In Day."

The flags will be moved to downtown Elba for the 4th of July.

There will be a short Dedication Ceremony at the display, Saturday, April 13, at 10 a.m.. All are invited to come and learn more about the veterans suicide issue. The purpose for the "Flags for Forgotten Soldiers" display is to let people know there is a large number of suicides within the veteran community. Nationally it averages 22 suicides per day. With 30 days in a month, that totals 660 suicides, which is the number of flags used in the display.

That's over 8,000 deaths a year, but gets very little publicity.

"To me, this is similar to the Agent Orange problem after the Vietnam War in that it took the V.A. a long time to officially recognize that there was a legitimate issue. I lost several friends and two gentlemen who worked for me due to that delay," said Travis Parker, Civitan President and Coffee County Veterans Coordinator. "If this was a war, the number of veterans who have committed suicide just since 9/11 is second in the number of casualties, ranking only behind World War II. Losing around 8,000 veterans a year is a major issue and we are trying to help fill in the gaps until the V.A. can get up to speed on this. They recently had a program at ESCC, so they are trying."

Parker said the reason for the constant moving around town is to remind people of the problem so that if they, or someone they know, is having issues, they will know who to contact. The local number is 334-806-2636. The information discussed on the phone or at the meetings is completely confidential.

The local Military Support Group has regular local meetings and can be reached by calling the above number, as well.

The "3FS Display" is sponsored by the Enterprise Civitan Club, the Coffee County Veterans Organization, and the Elba American Legion. The Legion normally meets on the second Saturday, 10 a.m., at the Legion Hall in Elba. Any veteran interested in joining can come by or call Jenny Reed at 334-761-1698.

Following the ceremony on Saturday, American Legion Post 42 is having a cookout at its Troy Highway facility in Elba. It is free to all veterans and their families.

ESCC plans to offer Mechatronics program at Alabama Aviation College

A new Mechatronics program ESCC will offer at the Alabama Aviation College this fall will train workers for high-demand industrial automation careers that focus on electrical, mechanical and computer engineering.

The college will be announcing the new program, renovation to the Higham building, and the new instructor for the program, April 11, at the Alabama Aviation College ATTC building.

Mechatronics is one of the world's largest high-tech manufacturing fields that leans on knowledge in industrial maintenance to give students an edge on the world's latest technologies, such as robots, automated manufacturing equipment, unmanned systems, and more. Mechatronics workers use a combination of electrical, mechanical and computer programming skills.

Aubri Hanson, ESCC's new Mechatronics instructor, will be working to build a bridge between education and industry in the local area. Hanson has both an academic and an industrial background: she taught engineering technology for the past seven years and was named Advanced Manufacturing Educator of the Year in the state of Florida in 2014.

Enterprise State Community College is excited to introduce a Mechatronics program starting in the fall of 2019, said ESCC Dean of Instruction, Danny Long.

Prior to entering the education realm, Hanson worked in both industry and government for over 12 years as a research and project engineer, and as an aerospace technologist. She has worked on several projects, including many of which involve radiation detection, and rocket engine testing.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that electro-mechanical technicians made an average annual salary of $56,740 in 2017. The highest 10% of workers earned more than $87,970. A typical entry-level wage was $36,550.

The need for electro-mechanical technicians, electronics technicians, and mechanical technicians is projected to grow around 5% from 2016 to 2026.

Veronica Crock, President of the Ozark-Dale County Economic Development Corporation, expressed her support for the new program at the Ozark AAC campus.

ESCC set to celebrate Founders Day on April 17th

Enterprise State Community College's annual Founders Day is set from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Wednesday, April 17, in the ESCC track area.

This year's events include BBQ, inflatables, karaoke, tug-of-war, sack races, and more organized by the college's Founders Day Committee and Student Services.

Founders Day is an annual opportunity for students, faculty and staff to celebrate the college's founding in 1963. The college first observed Founders Day in the early 1970s, according to Dr. Kevin Ammons, ESCC's Associate Dean of Students/Athletic Director. At that time, the celebration happened between the last day of classes and finals in order for students to enjoy time with their instructors and ask any questions before the end of the semester.

Founders Day later moved to the fall semester but returned to the spring semester in recent years.
